

Poisoned Beds

by Lucy Flannery & Greg Mosse

at The Spring Arts & Heritage Centre

Thursday 1st November 7:30pm

A story of female resilience contesting established power and an evocation of a town's bitter-sweet heritage, Poisoned Beds is a stirring one-woman performance. With songs and stories, she traces her family's rise from harbour to High Street, the tragic crisis of Emsworth's oyster industry and, finally, her own struggle to free herself from a cold, ambitious husband.

Tickets: £12.50, £11.50
